

POSTING: Computer science undergraduate students wanted as hourly employees for genome research projects.

The Laboratory for Molecular and Computational Genomics is seeking to hire talented undergraduate computer science students as research assistants as part of a team exploring the mysteries of the human genome.

Interested students should contact:

Prof. David C. Schwartz

dcschwartz@wisc.edu

<http://www.lmcg.wisc.edu/>

